I don't understand why the San Jose Water Works is installing transite water pipe on Virginia ave. It has asbestos fibers in it. They installed transite pipe about one and one-half years ago too and I understand it was not to be used even before then because the fibers get into the water.

CONCERNED FOR HEALTH CITIZEN

Editor's note: According to Norman New, an engineer for the San Jose water company, transite pipe has been tested many times by Johns-Mansville in Stockton and by the American Water Works. The many studies done, New says, show this type of pipe doesn't leave any fiber in the water. There is no basis for anyone getting upset, he added.

That picture of the Easter Bonnet Contest winners last week was too dark. You can hardly see some of the faces. What happened?

CURIOUS

Editor's note: The print was a little dark but the real reason for the way it appeared in the paper was the amount of ink used on that page. This varies from page to page (as you can tell if you compare different parts of the paper) and sometimes pictures come out way too dark.

A correction on Quito School. Actually it was built in 1952 and is one of the oldest school buildings in the district.

RON RESCIGNO

I say "amen" to the comment from one councilman last week about the use of radar to catch speeders. I don't think it's fair.

LOCAL MOTORIST

About those speed zones and the use of radar. I wonder if people aren't confusing so-called speed traps with the use of radar equipment? A speed trap is where you have a 45 MPH zone that suddenly becomes 25 MPH with a police car waiting there to nab you. As far as I know Campbell doesn't have any of these. All radar does is give you an accurate measure of the speed of a vehicle.

40 YEAR DRIVER

Editor's note: The use of speed traps (which were once a good source of revenue for small towns in California) have been outlawed. Cities, and counties, cannot arbitrarily post speed limits anymore.

That student who was concerned about the "mess" in front of Campbell High, maybe he should also show a little concern for the "mess" at that (recycle) center which the rest of this community has to look at every day. I think it's disgraceful.

CUHSD trustees

Wrestling with minimum standards

IT'S NOT EVERY day that school trustees get to play God.

That was the way one administrator described the decisions Campbell high school district trustees must make by June on the new mandated competency levels for students.

"You get to play a kind of Super-God," Wade Schroder, district director of guidance, told the board at the March 28 meeting.

"We're going to have a lot of fun with that," Trustee Ray Silva told the audience.

In order to comply with the new state law, the board must approve a competency test to be given to each student before they graduate.

That test, a prerequisite for a diploma, has to cover those areas of knowledge needed to carve out a "minimum" existence in contemporary society. And there in lies the knotty problem trustees must handle; setting a precise minimum students should know before graduating.

BY JUNE, every high school in the state must adopt its own standards of proficiency to be worked into the competency tests. Any student who has not met the locally adopted standards of proficiency shall not receive a diploma after June, 1980.

Adopting those "local standards" in the Campbell district may be a difficult process, if last Tuesday's two-hour long meeting is any indication.

When Schroeder outlined tentative guidelines for officials to consider he got some flack from one trustee.

In explaining what staff considers a definition of a functional versus non-functional citizen Schroeder gave the following list of citizens who can't make it: "Can't hold a job, can't feed a family and can't rear children."

Trustee Steve Tedesco strongly disagreed with the implication that a student not interested in starting a family and feeding it is somehow now prepared for life in contemporary society.

"What are we trying to keep afloat, the individual or society?," Tedesco asked Schroeder (Tedesco is unmarried).

Schroeder emphasized the definitions were only tentative and that faculty and parent input would be sought on the matter.

RON JACOB, Prospect High student body president; told trustees he thought a knowledge of government should be one of the definitions of a well-rounded, functional graduating student.

Superintendent Nick Montesano said he feels the determination of minimum competency standards should center on the "three R's."

"If you start with the whole world everybody in the whole world would have a different set of definitions," Montesano added.

Planning director reports

1,500 signs in violation

By MIKE MYSLINSKI

WALKING AROUND Campbell at sunset, have you ever wondered why some business signs obstruct your view of the sky and horizon?

One basic reason is that there are 1,500 signs currently in violation of the city's sign ordinance.

Planning director Art Kee gave his estimate of the violations at a joint City Council-Planning Commission study session Monday night.

Mayor Dean Chamberlin said the city doesn't want to get involved in 1,500 sign disputes, but agreed with the majority that the sign ordinance should be reviewed.

A committee of two council members and two planning commissioners will undertake the review and report back at a regular council meeting. Planning director Kee will be the non-voting coordinator of the group.

In discussions Monday several frustrations concerning the sign ordinance were brought out into the open.

Councilman Bill Podgorsek said it was "utterly ridiculous" that the cutoff height for signs in the city is 35 feet.

"Bigger is not better," he added.

Planning commission chairman Peg Pack said the commission needs more specific guidelines from the council regarding the enforcement of the ordinance.

SHE CITED the case of the towering Breuner's furniture store sign, which, she estimated, must be at least 40 feet high. According to the ordinance, she said it is a non-conforming sign but that the city permits it because "it's not objectionable to us."

"To who?" several councilman asked at once.

Councilman Rusty Hammer said the sign ordinance clearly does not permit a structure as high as the Breuner's sign and that action could be taken to make it conform.

"I don't believe we've suffered from gaudy, objectionable signs," planning commissioner Don Hebard said. But the city is suffering, he said, from the confusion generated by the existence of a sign committee not authorized by the sign ordinance.

COUNCILMEN and planning commissioners also agreed to take a hard look at the city's parking space allotments for townhouses.

As it stands now, the city allows 1.5 parking spaces for each newly-constructed two-bedroom townhouse.

Raise it to one car per bedroom, councilman Hammer suggested. He said those living in townhouses built adjacent to streets lined with No Parking zones often have nowhere to park.

Councilman Ralph Doetsch warned that raising the parking space allotments will greatly increase traffic congestion.

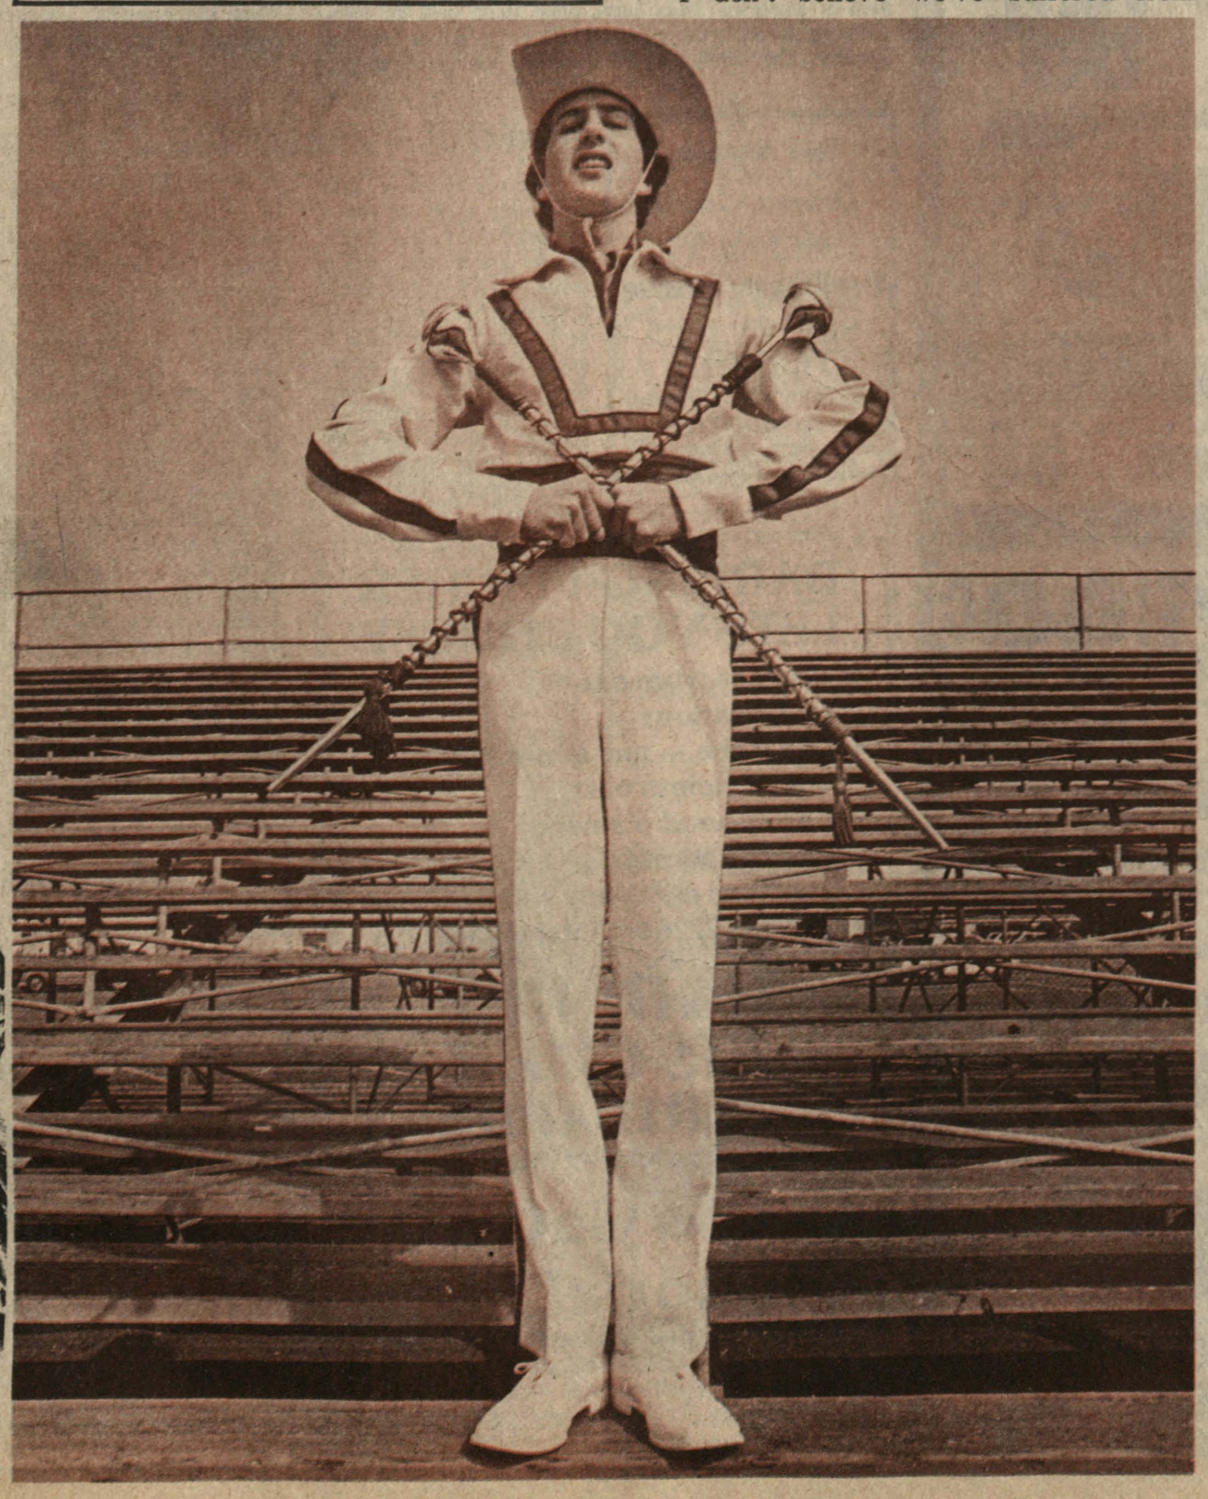
"You're just asking for it," Doetsch said.

Hammer recommended one car per bedroom and a half space for visitors, but agreed with the majority that three spaces per three-bedroom townhouse might be a little extreme.

Rain report

By Tuesday morning April showers had boosted the local rainfall total to 22.28 inches for the season, over four times the 6.94 inches that had fallen by this time last year.

Normal for April 4 is 13.63 inches.



City-school officials met Tuesday

The old Campbell grammar school property and a parcel map filed by the Campbell Union School District were two items to be discussed in an informal, closed meeting between city and school officials Tuesday night.

According to City Manager Bob Stephens, the session was scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. in the school district offices at 155 N. Third st.

Scheduled to attend the meeting were Mayor Dean Chamberlin, Councilman Norm Paul and Stephens, representing the city and Board President Donna Baird, Trustee Dr. Robert King and Superintendent Walt Hauss representing the district.

The meeting, called at the city's request, will center around future plans for the vacant school building and grounds at the corner of Campbell ave. at Winchester. The council has already gone on record in favor of acquiring that site for a neighborhood center and earmarked $200,000 out of federal Housing and Community Development funds to help pay for the project.

Eying a state championship

Drum Major Ken Perry of Campbell High School stands a good chance of ending this season as one of the top three drum majors in the state of California. At the third preliminary solo grandchampionships in Anaheim two weeks ago he came away with second place and just a half point away from the first place winner. This year the 17 year old junior has already brought home 10 awards and has three more competitions between now and June. Son of David and Margaret Perry, 3372 Cadillac drive, Ken credits his success to the support of his fellow band members, director and teacher but particularly his family who travels with him to all competitions. Ken also takes along a good luck piece, just in case. A mouse squeak toy dressed in a Buccaneer's uniform given to him by the school mascot.

Seniors change name of 'club'

"Club" is out and Community Seniors is in.

Last week the Campbell Senior Social Club officially changed their name to the Campbell Community Seniors.

Main reason for the name change, according to Kathy Cote of Campbell Community Services, is that many senior citizens in the area thought the former name implied the "Club" was a private organization.

Anyone 55 years and older is eligible for membership and currently meetings are held on the second and fourth Tuesday of each month at the Campbell library.

Business meetings and special programs are held on the second Tuesday (April 11 this month) with bingo games on the fourth Tuesday starting at 10 a.m.

Tell it to the taxman

By JEANIE SCHULTZ

"I DO MY OWN taxes," scoffed I to my friend who'd just paid to have her short form federal taxes compiled. I didn't mention that it's taken me two months, several shrieking fits and numerous occasions of stuffing the whole mess back into the drawer when I came up missing something I needed.

I've done my own taxes for years. But life was simpler then.

Some years I worked at the same place all year. This year I awaited six W-2's. Sometimes I stayed in the same place, too. This year I moved. And all years I laid clear-cut claim to my four dependents and me. This year one got married and squabble resulted with the ex over a daughter that lived with each of us.

The only things that are sure in life, the sages say, are death and taxes. On several occasions during my compilation progress, it was questionable which I'd have chosen given the choice.

'Tis true, I could have crept into the nearest income tax office and spared myself all this misery. And it wasn't that it was a matter of pride, it was more that I couldn't bear to expose my filing system.

MOVING EXPENSES MUST be substantiated so most of that stuff is in a cardboard box labeled "corduroy." (Well I know where it is.) There is a yellow sheet itemizing the charges from the U-Haul Truck but it goes downhill from there.

The mileage is written on the back of an envelope from my grandmother. Lodging expenses are scribbled on a scrap of paper the clerk tore off his calendar. I never did find the copy of the charges for the storage. The guy who drove the truck out did it for the cost of his plane ticket back.

How do you explain all that to an income tax preparer? I visualized a bookkeeper type peering over his bifocals at me and my box labeled "corduroy" and the leventy-leven scraps of paper and ordering me out of his office.

Filing part-year state taxes is the real pain. California only cares about the money you make here, but Colorado takes a more detailed interest in its citizens.

They wanted to know about my total income, which percentage thereof was acquired in Colorado, and supplied three different ways you could find out how much of it they wanted, all of them requiring a computer.

WHEN I FINALLY figured out that "apportioned in the ratio of the number of months he was a resident during the taxable year over 12" meant in English that I should figure everything out and then divide by 2/3 because I lived there 8 months in 1977 (2/3 of the year) I was home free.

Since I came to the conclusion that the IRS owes me money, all that remains now is for them to come to the same conclusion.

But it's enough to make you quit working.

Serious problems with SB 535

EDITOR:

As I expressed to you by phone today, we are being presented with a one-sided publicity campaign in a very sensitive and multi-faceted area of family rights legislation.

The campaign centers on the issue dealt with by SB 535, regarding access to information for adopted persons.

Week after week we are presented with pictures and stories of heart-rending, tear-stained reunions of adoptees with their "REAL" parents. The implication is that as in all good fairy tales the participants live happily ever after. But do they? And are those in fact the real parents?

I have friends who have received their children through adoption. Are they any less real children of real parents than my children? Obviously not.

I also have been privileged to work as a volunteer in an agency which offers services to pregnant women. I have worked with women and girls who have chosen to relinquish their children for adoption. This has been for them a courageous and loving act of parenting in a deep and real sense. They have been able and willing to release their children because they want for them what we all want for our children; secure and loving homes and families with real parents. They are relying on the parents who adopt to follow through for their children.

The most serious problem with this bill, SB 535, is that it will make it more difficult for the parents and the children to experience their family relationship as real and permanent. The process of becoming an adult always involves doubts and conflicts as the young person struggles to establish his or her own separate identity. It is a real danger that we may encourage young people to believe that meeting their biological parents will solve all their conflicts and answer all their questions.

Some of my friends feel that their trust is being violated by the state. They were required to accept a lack of information as a condition of adoption. Now the agencies themselves are seeking this change in the law.

It seems to me that the trust of the biological parent is also in jeopardy. They have done their best for these children. It then becomes their task to build new lives and families. They should be secure from unsolicited contact regarding the child they bore 18 or more years ago.

Private groups are capable of maintaining files and establishing contact, where both parties are currently seeking such information or contact. What legitimate governmental purpose can be served by bringing the State Department of Health into this process? Will they be contacting all those whose children were adopted to invite their participation?

The damage to confidentiality and personal security may already have been done regardless of a person's wishes, simply by the fact that contact has been made. There is no need for access to the original files of information taken at the time of the adoption. Any person wishing to exchange information could supply whatever items are requested to any group acting as a clearing house.

There is no provision in this bill which specifies when the biological parents may file their requests. It distresses me to think of the long term implications if these papers are signed during a period of much paperwork and emotional trauma by parents who may be (and in fact often are) quite young and unprepared.

There are other areas of the bill which are not sufficiently specific as to the procedure to be followed. Also if we are going to involve the state in this role, I believe we should at least raise the age of seeking this information to 25. My reason is the case that must be taken to avoid equating the knowledge of biological parents with the achievement of adulthood. Also such provision would be less intrusive into the relationship of parents and teenagers.

At least let us ask our legislators and our governor to delay taking this step until these issues can be fully aired and debated from all viewpoints. I feel that until now only the agency-position and that of those who were given too little information about their biological parents is being heard.

The kind of change in adoption law and practice which I believe we need is this: We should make routinely available all pertinent information. People have a right to know the physical characteristics, health history and cultural backgrounds of their biological parents.

Afraid of snakes? here's a program just for you

With spring settling into the county parks, droves of visitors mass to reservoirs, picnic areas and hiking trails. With comfortable temperatures, snakes will be sharing many of these areas with them. Depending on their knowledge and understanding of snakes, visitors may show disgust, fear, curiosity or excitement in their presence.

No animal has had more bad publicity or been more misunderstood than the snake. The most common misconceptions are that snakes are slimy, green snakes are poisonous, snakes "charm" their prey, and female snakes swallow their young in times of danger.

Mary Deroo, public relations director and zoo education director for Happy Hollow Park and Baby Zoo, considers education the key to understanding snake behavior in order to protect these important creatures.

Ms. Deroo will be explaining the myths and realities of these animals with her presentation, "Snakes — Fact and Fiction." This program will be held at 2:00 p.m. Sunday April 9, at the Stevens Creek County Park Visitor Center, 11401 Stevens Canyon Road in Cupertino.

Demonstrations will help visitors become aware of how snakes defend territory and what actions might threaten snakes to act defensively. Another demonstration will show how a boa constrictor eats its food.

This program, sponsored by the Santa Clara County Parks and Recreation Department, is one in a series of Sunday interpretive programs open to the public without charge.

Trustees hear school closure schedule

By MIKE MYSLINSKI

THERE ISN'T MUCH time left for three of the five Campbell elementary schools scheduled to be closed down.

On March 30 the Campbell Union School District governing board was presented with a closure calendar, designed to outline the series of meetings and studies necessary to make the school transitions in September.

The Calendar affects all parents, students and faculty touched by the consolidation of the following schools; Quito with Forest Hill and Marshall Lane, Cypress with Lynhaven and Moorpark with Monroe.

The board approved of the calendar as submitted by Superintendent Walter Hauss.

HAUSS SAID the schedule was a "rough outline" and that there may be more meetings, if needed.

"[illegible] in mind," he told the trustees, "the dates aren't sacred."

The outline also lists whose responsibility it is to organize and carry out each procedure. In the majority of instances the principals of the affected schools must follow through on closure steps.

According to the schedule, several activities already took place in March. There was a joint principal's meeting, a facility needs-list submitted to supt. Hauss, an exchange of mailing lists between consolidating schools and a joint faculty meeting to clarify staffing procedures to be followed.

The remaining schedule, by month:

APRIL (First two weeks) — Establish joint parent involvement committees for schools involved in consolidation; establish faculty advisory committees for each affected school; Hauss and Asst. Supt. Jack Salsbury visit schools to check facility needs list; send open letters to parents to visit the receiving schools and establish joint parent "socials."

APRIL 14 — Program needs assessment to asst. supt. for instruction Ken Meinecke; textbook needs-list to Meinecke and a staffing needs-list to asst. supt. for personnel Ron Rescigno.

MAY: Hold joint parent orientation meetings; hold informal coffee meetings at receiving schools; complete bus schedule routes; send equipment inventory lists to Salsbury (include District number); establish school site councils.

JUNE: Hold student orientation; move Cypress School equipment, teacher materials, etc. to Lynhaven.

JULY: Relocation of portable facilities; move Quito School equipment, etc. to Forest Hill and Marshall Lane.

AUGUST: Complete necessary additions-alterations of the receiving schools; complete utility hookup of portable facilities; move Moorpark school equipment to Monrow School.

SEPTEMBER: Evaluate process used to close facilities. All facilities ready for occupancy.

Supt. Hauss said questions concerning the "event schedule" should be directed to the following people:

Instructional program questions: Ken Meinecke

Personnel: Ron Rescigno

Business operations: Jack Salsbury

Libraries: Norma Martin.

Staff meetings will be scheduled the third Monday of each month to evaluate progress being made, Hauss said.

IN OTHER ACTION March 30, the board:

- Approved the Phase II plan for alterations to Campbell Junior High School, with the deletion of a proposed $400,000 "multi-use gymnasium." The trustees directed architect Loren Durr to prepare a report listing alternative gym plans, with cost outlines, and to report back at a special meeting in two weeks.
- Ratified the publication of the call for bids for four 78-passenger school buses, needed to accommodate the expected increase in passengers when school consolidation takes place.

Members of the Castlemont School Rocketry Club pose with their handiwork. Students make and paint all of the rockets while their advisor takes care of the ignition systems, launch pads and batteries. Castlemont also hosts other classes this year including square, tap and folk dancing and several adult clubs.

NEWEST attraction at the Campbell Historical Museum is "Scotty," a mannikin sporting a full uniform circa World War I. Shown with Scotty are three members of Winchester Barracks 3157, Veterans of World War I, who donated Scotty and most of his attire. From left, Bennett Lancaster, Roland Goetz and George Mattison. Harold Shelley recently donated the car to complete the exhibit. The 1918 photo of the student body at Campbell High School shows many of the young men in similar uniforms. Known as the High School Cadets, they practiced with wooden guns which were stored in the basement of the old high school. The museum is open to the public without charge every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday from 2 to 4 p.m. downstairs at the Campbell public library, 70 N. Central ave.

Four locals winners in zone finals

Four local high school students were named winners in the recent Bank of America zone competition for the 1978 Achievement Awards. They now advance to the regional finals set for June 1 in Monterey where they'll compete with other zone winners.

Locals picked for the finals include: Alice Miano (liberal arts) and Terri Dowdy (vocational arts) both of Westmont High School, Ron Jakob (science and mathematics), Prospect; and Linda Bohnet (fine arts), Leigh High.

Deadline Friday for YES assistant

Friday, April 7 is the deadline for local youths to apply for the position of Youth Employment Assistant with the Campbell Chamber of Commerce.

High School seniors who attend one of the five high schools in the Campbell area — Camden, Campbell, Del Mar, Prospect and Westmont — or who live in the Campbell area and attend private school, are eligible to apply for this paid position.

The YES assistant will help with all facets of the Chamber's Youth Employment Service including general promotion, recruiting job sites and referring applicants to jobs.

For more information stop by the new Chamber office at 328 E. Campbell ave. or call 378-6252.

Downtown eyed for new center

City staffers were looking at several vacant downtown retail stores last week as possibilities for a drop-in center for senior citizens, approved by the Campbell City Council last week.

Members of the Campbell Senior Social Club (which was changed April 1 to the Campbell Community Seniors) made their plea for a regular meeting place at the March 27 meeting. Originally the group hoped to use part of the vacant Hamilton School and received council support for that plan. But the agreement between adult education and the Campbell Union School District fell through (Campbell was to have leased part of that building from adult ed for seniors and youth).

Last week the City Council authorized staff to come up with a lease-rental plan for an interim center for the senior group.

At present they hold meetings on the second and fourth Tuesday of each month in the Community Room of the Campbell public library.

When a facility is found the Community Services-sponsored senior activities will be expanded.

City Council

Bruener's appeals vote of planning commission

An appeal of a Planning Commission decision, request for a softball field and possible revamping of the way traveling expenses are handled are a few of the items coming before Campbell city councilmen at the Monday, April 10 meeting. Sessions start at 8 p.m. in the Council Chamber, 75 N. Central ave.

Also up for consideration will be requests for capital improvement projects including installation of traffic signals at the corner of Darryl drive and Hamilton ave.

The John Bruener Company is appealing a recent decision by the Planning Commission which made removal of its freeway-orientated sign a condition of approval of plans for an addition to their 525 E. Hamilton ave. business.

Also on the agenda is a request by the Parks and Recreation Commission for a new, skinned softball field at John D. Morgan Park.

The $350 per conference expense allowed elected and appointed officials and city staffers will go by the boards if a recommendation of City Manager Bob Stephens is approved. Instead of the per-diem allowed Stephens favors a change to actual costs.

Monday Stephens said there have been very few abuses of the flat conference expense allowance over the 7 or 8 years the council policy has been in effect. But there have been some. People have occasionally put in for the full allowance, the city administrator said, and then not attended all the conference meetings. The $350 was intended to cover actual travel, meal lodging and conference expense.

Also on the agenda Monday is:

- The deferred parcel map submitted by the Campbell elementary school district.
- A staff report on surplus city property with the recommendation that some of it be sold. City-owned lands are on Hamilton ave., Third street, Dot avenue, Grant street and some land on the new loop street.
- An informal public hearing on three suggested projects for the city capital improvement program. These include the Darryl drive signals, a city-wide street maintenance program and allocations for acquisition of land for a fire station on Michael drive.
- Appointment of the city representative on the executive board of the Campbell Progressive Seniors. By the April 1 deadline two people had applied; Myron Alexander, local realtor and a member of the county planning commission and Sibyl M. Stevenson, retired social work supervisor who served on the advisory board of the Campbell Information and Referral Service.
- The continued public hearing in annexation of property in the Pollard road-More avenue area.
- An amendment to the local community development plan targeting $94,700 in federal Housing and Community Development (HCD) funds for the San Tomas area, plus an additional sum left over from the first and third year HCD allocation.
- A public hearing on a Zone change at 806 S. San Tomas Aquino road from R-2-S to planned development.

Chamberlin heads council

A city where you can meet the mayor

THE ROLE OF city councilman hasn't changed much in the 10 years Mayor Dean Chamberlin has been serving Campbell. But the scope of the job, financially, certainly has.

When the current fiscal year ends on June 30, local officials will have doled out more than $1.7 million in federal and state funding alone. Ten years ago Campbell had little if any outside funding.

"In the past," the Mayor said, "I remember a great deal of soul searching went into the purchase of a new police car."

Chamberlin was named mayor by fellow councilmen at the last council session with Norm Paul elected vice mayor. In Campbell, the office of mayor is rotated annually.

For the past decade Chamberlin has watched this city's income from sales taxes skyrocket; the envy of most other small cities in the county. But this year federal and state grants and funding will almost equal the entire city budget of $1.8 million just a decade ago.

DURING 1977-78 CAMPBELL will receive an estimated $310,000 in federal revenue sharing and more than $600,000 from the federal public works bill to be used for street work and renovations at city hall. There is also federal housing and community development funds (with $200,000 of that earmarked for acquiring the old Campbell grammar school for a neighborhood center) and state land and water conservation funds to be used for Los Gatos Creek Park.

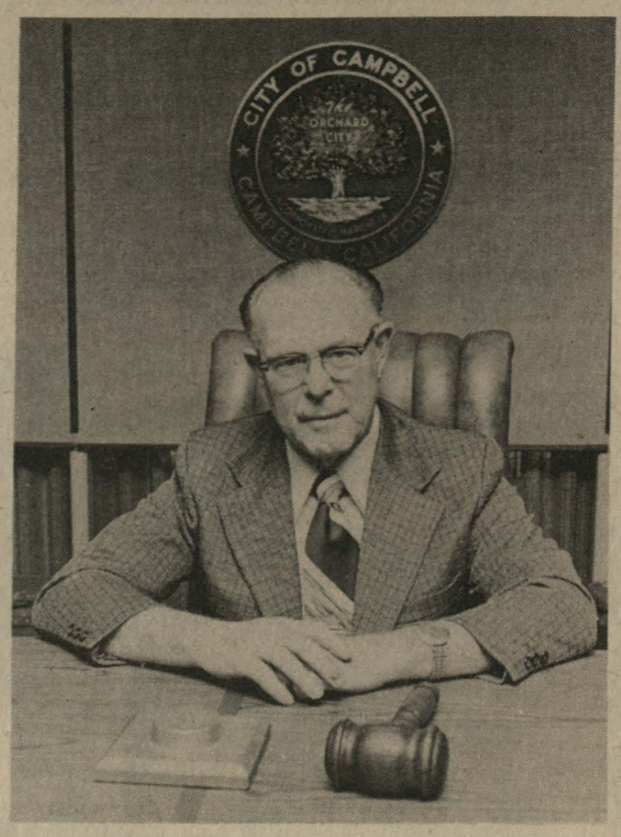
This is the third time around for Mayor Chamberlin. He served as head of the council in 1970-71 and again in 1973-74.

The 62 year old school administrator says the mayor's job in Campbell is not one of power but of attempting to facilitate communication.

"There is no power the mayor has that the four other council members don't have," Chamberlin explained. "The difference is with the ceremonial duties such as ribbon cuttings and in wielding the gavel at meetings."

AN IMPORTANT PART of his job as mayor, he added, will be to help other councilmen know and understand the issues coming before them.

Chamberlin moved to Campbell in September of 1939 and served as a classroom teacher at Campbell High School. He later became a school counselor and then took on the job of principal at Camden High School when that school opened in 1955. Seven years later Chamberlin moved out to the Campbell Union High School District offices on Union ave. as Director of Special Services. In 1973 he was named to his present post; Director of Classified Personnel.



AT THE HELM of city government in Campbell this year is Dean Chamberlin, 62, who was elected mayor by fellow councilmen at the March 27 meeting. Part of the duties of mayor in a small city like Campbell is attending ribbon cuttings and grand openings. Most aren't as colorful or difficult as the opening of Orchard City drive last year when he, and other officials, were to cut a giant "ribbon" of prunes strung with wire across the street. "The shears wouldn't cut through very well," Chamberlin laughed. He and his wife, Viva, are the parents of two grown sons and two grandchildren, a boy and a girl. The family home is at 103 N. Carlyn ave.

The local official has been in the administrative end of education for more than 20 years but says he still misses the classroom.

"But there are pluses and minuses," he added. "I miss the personal relationships with the kids which is important to any teacher," Chamberlin explained, "but having to go to every soccer, basketball or football game . . . That, I don't miss."

OVER THE YEARS there have been many important tasks handled by the Campbell council but Chamberlin remembers one with particular pride. That was the 1974 bond issue to build the two loop streets for downtown Campbell.

During the campaign Chamberlin gave 39 talks with the slide presentation he developed and joined other councilmen in stumping for votes.

"The Council worked on that bond campaign for two months," he remembers," and went to every house in town on foot." The bond issue passed handily with 76.8 per cent of the vote.

"It was the only bond issue to pass in northern California that year," Chamberlin exclaimed.

In the last decade Chamberlin has been on the short end of a 3-2 council vote many times. He remembers one particular issue in which his was the swing vote.

"In a close decision I feel there's a huge amount of luck involved," he said, "but probably the decision that had me on the ropes more than any other was whether or not to build (the new) city hall as planned."

The council had been hung up for months on one critical issue; whether to make that building "a little more fancy" or just stick to the basics. When bids were opened the less than spartan design came in with a low bid $40,000 higher than available money.

"THE COUNCIL postponed the decision for two weeks and I spent that time talking with architects, contractors and others in the building business. The problem was whether to go back and redo the plans or go ahead (with the low bidder)."

After hours of study and thought Chamberlin came to the next meeting and voted to go ahead and build the new civic center.

Campbell has had an adversary relationship at times with county government over the years. And Chamberlin was in the forefront of one of those disputes. It involved the new library.

According to Chamberlin, the original agreement between Campbell and the county was for the city to build the facility and the county to lease it back for a branch library. City officials included plans for the 12,000 square foot library within the city hall complex.

A SHORT TIME LATER, Chamberlin says, the county announced they had sought and received a federal grant to build a 24,000 square foot library building (exactly double the original size).

"We were told 'you'll have to buy the land for us,'" Chamberlin said. The government would be picking up the tab for half the construction costs.

When county administrator Howard Campen appeared at the next Campbell city council session he and Chamberlin had a heated exchange.

"I told him his credentials were in question," Chamberlin said. For one reason, the county had gone ahead with plans to double the size of the project without consulting the city. The second problem was that there was no room for a 24,000 square foot facility in the new city hall complex.

Chamberlin remembers Campen assuring city officials the county would build the building if the city purchased the land, which they later did across the street from city hall.

Later Campen reportedly came back with the startling announcement that Campbell would have to pick up the tab for half the building costs too (the county half).

Chamberlin immediately contacted Ralph Mehrkens, then 4th district supervisor, and got a hearing before the Board of Supervisors.

"I THINK WE HAD the whole Chamber of Commerce down there," Chamberlin declared. The local contingent came away from that meeting with a unanimous decision by supervisors to uphold the original agreement.

This city has several big issues to face in the next year or two, Chamberlin says, including the need for expansion of the fire department and the proposed county-wide paramedic program.

This year I hope to work with the council on finding a solution to the fire department problems. And I still have fond hopes of finding a way to improve the general appearance and attractiveness of our downtown area."

The local man, who enjoys backpacking, fishing and wood chopping (and has a huge stack of wood behind his two-story home to prove it), is often button holed at social functions by people who have an axe to grind or those who just want to talk to an elected official. Chamberlin doesn't mind it a bit.

"THAT'S GOOD. That's healthy," he said of talking "shop" with people he meets casually. "That's one of lthe greatest strengths a small community can preserve, people communicating one on one. That's impossible on the state and federal level."

"In Campbell if someone wants to get to know their elected official on a personal basis, he can do it."

THE audience weren't the only ones surprised during intermission at a recent concert of the Santa Clara Valley Symphony when oboist Will Merriell and assistant concertmistress Cynthia Wachter announced they had been married that afternoon. It was news to the orchestra members too. Merriell is a Campbell resident. The next performance of the orchestra is this Sunday, April 9 at 3 p.m. in the West Valley College campus theater. Admission is free.

Coast Guard recruits

Two sisters are sailing the briny blue

By PAT SAFFORD

A LOCAL WOMAN recently made history in the U.S. Coast Guard as one of two women to graduate from the mechanics school in Yorktown, Virginia and be assigned to a ship.

Kim Trozzolillo, 21, and her sister Daria, 22, both signed up for the Coast Guard late last year. They were assigned to boot camp in Maryland.

Daria is now a reservist assigned to a search and rescue ship based on Yerba Buena Island while Kim is on Alaska patrol aboard the Gallatian, based in Governor's Island, New York.

"Kim and her roommate from Massachusetts were the first to go through mechanics school," Daria said recently.

The two, daughters of Art and Anne Trozzolillo, 170 C[illegible] Marguerita dr., Los Gatos, found the going rough in b[illegible]mp.

[illegible] Daria, the physical training was toughest. For Ki[illegible], it was keeping her rack ship shape.

DURING KIM'S first week at boot camp, Daria says she saw "a bag of clothes walking by" and someone told her it was her sister.

The company commander enforced the clean up rules of the camp by making recruits wear anything found out of place in their racks.

The first day Kim was wearing her towel under her hat, two pairs of shoes over her shoulders, a big, grey blanket poncho style in the 98 degree heat and her clothes bag hanging from her belt.

"I didn't know I could do 20 pushups"

Daria found negotiating the obstacle course "horrible" and didn't cotton to the "cranks" either. Cranks are pushups, usually given out as punishment for not being able to answer the hundreds of questions fired at recruits during training anytime an officer spotted them.

The physical training was a pleasant surprise to Daria, aside for the two cases of blood poisoning she contracted from blisters during the first two weeks.

"It (the training) shows you can do more than you think you can," she explained. "I didn't know I could do 20 pushups."

DARIA TROZZOLILLO, RESERVIST.

THE LOCAL WOMEN, and other recruits, also learned they could do 10 "get ups and get downs" in a row, do three laps around the track for talking too much and hundreds cranks.

Daria, now a seaman boatswain mate and Kim, a fireman's apprentice, were two of 45 women out of the close to 600 recruits in boot camp.

The training was harder on the women, Daria feels, since they felt they couldn't whine during those first few days (like the guys did, she says) and because the women were propositioned by officers despite the $250 fine imposed for fraternizing with recruits.

The two also learned many new swear words.

"The officers screamed obscenities in your face," Daria said, "and you couldn't move. I learned most of the new obscenities from the company commanders."

The food was bad at the school the two later attended in Yorktown for advanced training but good in boot camp, Daria remembers.

"WE EVEN had steak and lobster twice in boot camp. They told us the Coast Guard confiscated half of the catch of a Brazilian fishing vessel inside the U.S. territorial waters," Daria laughed. "I don't know if they were kidding or not."

Rise and shine time for recruits is 5 a.m. but for the two local women, and other members of the regimental staff, it was 4.

Today, Kim is out on one of the many 40-day trips her ship makes to the Alaskan waters on search and rescue and patrol.

Daria, spends one weekend a month on duty plus two weeks every summer, as a reservist. She was on duty earlier this year when the Navy plane went down in the South Bay.

"We were on the scene in less than two minutes" she says, "and got the navigator out of the water. His flotation coat didn't work." Another boat picked up the pilot.

LAST MONTH, while Daria was on duty, there was a sailboat race on the bay during stormy weather.

"Five boats were racing out there capsized," Daria remembers. Her ship picked up one elderly couple and two men while other Coast Guard ships rescued the others.

The two came away from their training with more than a healthier body and new skills. Kim is engaged to the young petty officer she met in school and will be married this summer.

Daria met her present steady boyfriend, also a boatswain mate, while in Yorktown.

"He lives in Los Gatos," Daria laughed, "but we never met until we were recruits."

Participants in the science fair are from all schools, public, private and parochial, grades 6 through 12, in the Santa Clara Valley.

The fair is sponsored by local companies and organizations to encourage students to research and explore ideas of their own interest.

The awards ceremony, held Saturday, at 1:30 p.m. at Fiesta Hall on the Fairgrounds, honors the winners of each category at each grade level. In addition many larger prizes from local and national organizations are awarded to outstanding exhibitors, including several $600 Work-Fellowships.

Petitions on nuclear issue

Citizens for Alternatives to Nuclear Energy (CANE), a Palo Alto energy action group, has just completed a campaign urging the California Legillature to uphold the state nuclear safeguard laws.

During the past six weeks, CANE has collected 2,120 signatures on a petition asking that the proposed Sundesert nuclear power plant not be exempted from the safeguard measures adopted in June 1976. These safeguards prohibit construction of nuclear power plants in California until safe means exist for reprocessing and storing the highly toxic radioactive wastes.

The petitions will be presented to the Assembly Resources, Land Use, and Energy Committee chaired by Victor Calvo (D-Mountain View). The committee is now reviewing Senate Bill 1015 which would exempt the Sundesert plant. This bill was passed by the Senate despite a recommendation from the State Energy Commission that the plant not be granted an exemption.

Status of women

The status of women in the so-called "feminist capital of the nation," Santa Clara County, will be delved into at an open brunch sponsored by the YWCA in Santa Clara Valley's Public Affairs Committee Wednesday, April 12, at the Metropolitan San Jose YW, 375 South Third Street.

Sex discrimination, battered women, and other feminine problems will be discussed by Rina Rosenberg, executive director of the County Commission on the Status of Women. A representative of the Women's Alliance will report on the refuge for battered women that has been established. Time is 10 a.m., with reservations for both the brunch and for child care of participants' pre-schoolers being taken at the YW; phone 295-4011.

'Public Schools Month' noted

With the theme "Building Tomorrow Today," the month of April will be set aside in recognition of California Public Schools Month, said Wilson Riles, state superintendent of public instruction.

Public schools will open their doors to the public throughout the month. Various activities are planned to show parents and friends of the schools how public education is striving to meet the challenges of preparing the citizenry of the future.

ORDINANCE NO. 1152

BEING AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF CAMPBELL AMENDING TITLE 2 OF THE CAMPBELL MUNICIPAL CODE BY DELETING CHAPTER 2.34 AND ADOPTING CHAPTER 2.34 AS AMENDED ENTITLED, YOUTH ADVISORY COMMISSION.

The City Council of the City of Campbell does hereby ordain as follows:

SECTION ONE: That the following chapter be and the same is hereby enacted as part of Title 2 of the Campbell Municipal Code.

Chapter 2.34
YOUTH ADVISORY COMMISSION

Sections:

2.34.010 Established — Member appointed.
2.34.020 Terms of Office.
2.34.030 Organization.
2.34.040 Duties — Responsibilities.
2.34.050 Council's powers.

2.34.010 Established-member appointed. There is established a Youth Advisory Commission consisting of seven (7) members, all of whom shall be between the ages of 13-21 at the time of their appointment. The members of the Youth Advisory Commission shall be appointed as follows:

(1) Seven members all of whom shall be residents of the City of Campbell to be appointed by the City Council:

(a) It is suggested that an attempt be made to have representatives from a variety of age levels in the 13-21 age range. Example: one junior high student, one high school student and one college student,

(b) The other four members shall be selected at large;

(2) There may be associate members of the commission, without vote who may be appointed on the basis of their interest, and past work with youth of the City of Campbell. Encouragement shall be given to the appointment of associate members representing the Campbell Union School District, Campbell Union High School District and West Valley College.

2.34.020 Terms of Office. The seven voting members of the commission shall serve for terms of two years. Terms shall be staggered Terms shall expire in September.

All subsequent appointees to the commission shall be appointed to fill the various seats and terms as established by the commission.

Vancies in the commission occurring otherwise than by expiration of term shall be filled in the manner herein set forth for the unexpired term of the commissioner leaving the commission.

2.34.030 Organization. The commission shall meet in regular session and elect a Chairman and Vice-Chairman annually. Their duties shall respectively be such as are usually carried out by those officers. Officers shall serve for a period of one year in each office. Said term expiring in September.

The commission shall set rules and adopt by a majority vote the time and place for their meetings. They shall meet at least once a month. A majority of the commission shall constitute a quorum.

Minutes of their meetings shall be filed with the City Council, City Manager, City Clerk, City Attorney, all school districts represented in the City of Campbell, chairmen of all other City Commissions, Y.E.S. Director, the press, and any others as directed by the Chairman of Youth Commission.

The commission may, from time to time, form committees comprised of public members to work on special projects deemed necessary by the commission.

The City Manager or his delegated representative shall provide staff assistance to the commission.

2.34.040 Duties-Responsibilities. The duties of the Youth Advisory Commission shall be to:

(1) Act in an advisory capacity to the City Council in all matters pertaining to youth related programs and to cooperate with other governmental agencies and civic groups in the advancement of worthwhile contributions which concern young people.

(2) Hold hearings and in other ways, determine the needs of young people in Campbell.

(3) Study possible federal, state and local funding for new youth programs.

(4) To be a liaison between the City of Campbell and the Campbell Youth Employment Service. This responsibility includes receiving quarterly reports from the Y.E.S. Director and reporting to the City Council on the Youth Employment Service when necessary. The Commission shall also conduct a formal evaluation of the Youth Employment Service once every two years or when the Council directs it to do so.

(5) The Commission shall serve as a liaison between the City Council and the various schools and student body officers in the Campbell vicinity.

(6) The Commission shall serve as a liaison between the City of Campbell and the Campbell High School Recycling Center Committee.

(7) The Commission shall cooperate with the Planning Commission, the Parks and Recreation Commission, the Civic Improvement Commission in matters relating to youth and other civic related matters.

(8) In performing the above-mentioned functions, place special emphasis upon problems of drug abuse, leisure time activities, participation in the governmental process and changes in any city, county, state or federal regulations necessary for the improvement of the social, economic or recreational advantages of youth.

2.34.050 Council's Powers. Nothing in this chapter shall be construed as restricting or curtailing the powers of the City Council or as delegation of powers of the City Council to said Youth Advisory Commission, or any other body the authority or discretionary powers vested and imposed by law in said City Council. The City Council hereby declares that the public convenience, interest and welfare and necessity required the appointment of a Youth Advisory Commission to act purely in an advisory capacity to said City Council for the purposes hereinabove enumerated.

Sciatica

The word "sciatic" pertains to the hip, but the popular version of "sciatica" includes any painful condition affecting either the hip and/or the leg.

The primary cause of sciatica is a pressure, irritation or injury to some part of the sciatic nerve.

Through injury or stress, vertebrae may be forced from their normal position and their natural movements restricted. This causes local swelling and interference with the function of nerves which results in pain or malfunction in the body parts or organs served by the affected nerves.

On September 18, 1895 in Davenport, Iowa, Dr. D.D. Palmer discovered that many ailments are due to minor injuries and disorders of the spine, causing interference with the function of the nerves. Dr. Palmer's discoveries led to the development of a new means of healing "Chiropractic," meaning "done by hand." In 1897, he began to teach Chiropractic to others.

If you suffer from the above condition or any disorder causing pain, discomfort or illness, in your area see:

Siren sounds

APARTMENT BURGLARIZED

A ground floor apartment on Michael drive was reportedly broken into last Thursday night.

Reported missing was $2,170 in stereo equipment and jewelry.

ARSON ATTEMPT?

An attorney on the 10th floor of the Towers II building in the Pruneyard discovered a fire had been set in a waste paper basket in the men's restroom last Saturday (April 1).

The small blaze caused no damage and the case was turned over to the fire department for investigation.

SUSPICIOUS CIRCUMSTANCES

Campbell police responded to a report of a possible shotgun trap set in the rear entry to a vacant home on W. Campbell ave. last week.

According to reports, the new tenant arrived to clean up the home before moving in and found a sign posted in the rear warning a shotgun trap had been set. He called police.

When they arrived and made entry by another entrance they found no trap but did find two starving dogs, apparently left behind by the previous tenant(s). Animal control officers were called and took the dogs to the animal shelter.

BIKE PARTS STOLEN

Pedal 'N' Wheel, 1550 La Pradera reported the theft of bike parts and a camera valued at more than $800 after a break-in last Friday.

ILLEGAL USE OF MASK

A 16 year-old was taken to Juvenile Hall on charges of being under the influence and use of a face mask after an incident on Campbell ave., near Superior drive Monday afternoon.

According to reports, the youth was spotted by a passerby walking in the center of one of the traffic lanes and causing passing cars to brake or take evasive action to avoid striking him.

When the officer arrived he found the suspect wearing a ski cap mask over his face and asked him to remove it. The youth refused. When the officer repeated and request several times and informed the boy it is against the law to hide his face or identification by a mask while in a public place, the youth still refused to remove it.

He was transported to the police station and later to Valley Medical Center for an examination before being taken to Juvenile Hall.

MOBILE HOME BURGLARIZED

An elderly man who resides in a mobile home on Union ave. found he had been burglarized last week.

Reported missing last Wednesday was $752 in jewelry.

A SOFTDRINK TO THE LAPEL

A 27-year-old San Jose man was attested on two counts of disturbing the peace and one count of assault and battery last week after an incident in the movie theater at the Pruneyard.

According to reports, the suspect and two companions had been causing a disturbance in the theater and when asked to quiet down by a theater employee the suspect refused.

A security guard was called to the scene and when he advised the man he'd have to leave the man reportedly poured his cup of softdrink on the guard's uniform.

The man fled and was apprehended by the guard who placed him under citizen's arrest when Campbell police arrived.

The two companions apparently left quietly.

SECURITY FIRM A VICTIM

A Sunnyvale security firm is missing a $1,200 hand held radio transmitter and receiver.

According to police reports, the radio equipment was apparently removed from the security car while on patrol at The Factory shopping center.

OPEN FOR business in a new downtown location is the Campbell Chamber of Commerce. Above, from left, Shirley Stanford, community services receptionist; Maureen Morgan, records secretary and Ted Rogers, executive vice president, invite everyone to drop by and see the new headquarters at 328 E. Campbell ave., near Central. The new office also houses the Youth Employment Service (YES) and youths needing jobs or business owners and residents who need help should stop by or call 378-1666.

CAMPBELL GARDEN CLUB INSTALLS OFFICERS

Shirley Sterba will be installed as president of the Campbell Garden Club at the installation tea set for Wednesday, April 12 at 11 a.m. at the Congregational Church of Campbell, 400 W. Campbell ave.

Other officers to be installed include; Mary Baycura, first vice president; Georgie Wolf, second vice president; Lorraine Doetsch, recording secretray; Virginia Marotti, corresponding secretary; Minnie Snyder, treasurer; Mary Stapelton, parliamentarian and directors Ruth Martwich and Vera Werner.

Installing officer will be Beth Morgan, district director of the California Garden Clubs, Inc. of the Santa Clara Valley District.

PENINSULA RUGMAKERS

A display of old rugs and a report by Louise MacKensie highlight the Wednesday, April 19 meeting of the Peninsula Rugmakers' Guild. The group meets from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Allstate Savings community room, Payne at Saratoga avenues in San Jose.

Also scheduled for the meeting is a demonstration by Lee Worrell on how to create your own rug designs.

COMMUNITY HOSPITAL AUXILIARY

A new panel of officers will be installed at the 15th anniversary luncheon of the Community Hospital-Rehabilitation Center Auxiliary this Friday, April 7 at the Villa Felice restaurant.

Lynne Hardwich will be installed as president with Beverly De Lisle first vice president and president-elect.

Shirley Horine, first president of the organization and installing officer will also install Esther Orsi, second vice president, and volunteer coordinator; Jeanne Biggs, third vice president and membership chairman and Judy Flath, third vice president and junior volunteer coordinator.

Other officers to be installed include; Rae Edwards, treasurer; Joychyn Brown, corresponding secretary; Millie Dethlefsen, recording secretary and Peggy Aiello, gift shop treasurer.

Presiding at the brief business session will be Dale Bates, outgoing president and luncheon chairman.

Dottie Rosendale, the Auxiliary's second president, will give a brief history of the founding of the group and climax of the luncheon will be the presentation of the annual financial gift to Ralph Ross, executive director of the hospital.

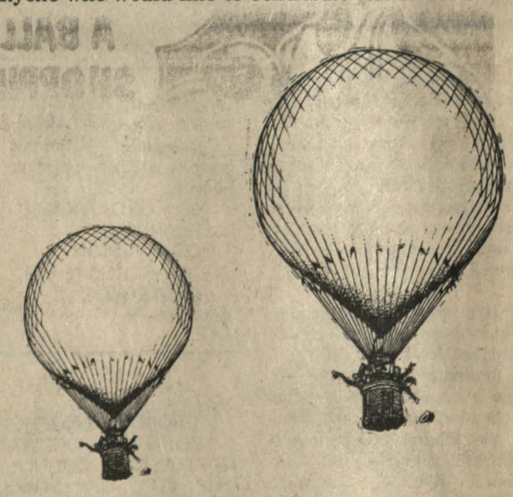
ALPHA PHI SORORITY

Members of the Alpha Phi sorority from San Jose state university are still teetering today in their seven-day nonstop teeter-totter marathon which got underway Monday, April 3 to benefit the Santa Clara County Heart Association.

The 60-member sorority is being aided by university fraternities.

Last year the San Jose state chapter donated over $1,000 to the heart fund. This year their goal is $1,500.

Anyone who would like to contribute can call 279-9898.



Orchards' demise may be slowing

The bulldozing of Santa Clara Valley's famed orchards may be slowing down, County Agriculture Commission Chet Howe speculated in a preliminary report.

"It may be early to make a prediction," Howe explained, "but this past year seems to indicate a leveling off of the destruction of Santa Clara County orchards."

The total acreage lost this past year, 1977, was about 650 acres compared with an average annual loss of 3,000 acres in previous years.

"We even had a 244-acre gain in cherry tree plantings," he added, "and Kiwi planting was up slightly with a little over 13 acres."

Howe explained that Kiwi fruit (Actinidia Chinensis Planch) or "Chinese Gooseberries" have been grown commercially in the Orient and New Zealand for many years.

In the mid-1960's they were imported to California, and Santa Clara County growers started planting them in this area in the early 1970's.

The statewide crop is expected to total from 3,000 to 4,000 tons by 1980. An acre will produce three to seven tons, according to Howe.

This unpretentious restaurant serves good Chinese cuisine cooked to your requirements & they're easy on the pocket book, too!

During the balance of April, SIRLOIN AND BREW UNLIMITED w/serve champagne (w/refills) w/every dinner during the Grand Opening of its newest restaurant at 580 Hegenberger Rd., Oakland, managed by Bob Waller, veteran restaurateur. The dramatic architecture is dominated by rustic wood interior, massive wall fp, leaded cut-glass windows. It's super-relaxing, w/soft candlelight & glowing Coleman lanterns. Ideal for dining before sports or entertainment events at the Oakland Coliseum. Wine, beer, or sangria & unlimited Gourmet Salad Bar are incl. w/steak dinners, from $4.89.

Nothing like the 60's

Skateboarders find haven in Campbell

By RANDY FREY

FURTHER proof that skateboarding of the 1970's is nothing like skateboarding of the 1960's is the Skateboard Park, a collection of cement bowls and moguls that provide the skateboarder with hours of riding pleasure.

One such park has opened in Campbell, on Winchester blvd.

And Mike Martinez, owner of the new Winchester Skateboard Park, said business has been just great since he opened for business a week and a half ago.

"We have had a lot of people, over 3,000 the first week," said Martinez, who, along with several friends, decided to build the park.

The park, open until 10 p.m. every night, offers 11 different runs for beginners all the way to advanced skateboarders.

Runs range from beginning freestyle washboard bumps to intermediate half pipes and mogul areas to advanced half pipes and clover bowls.

And there is a redwood observation deck that allows the less bold to watch the action free of charge.

ANYONE wishing to skate at the new park must first join the park's club at $5 annual membership. Skateboarding is then $3 for two hours and $1.25 for each additional hour.

"And all skaters are required to wear the necessary safety equipment," said Martinez.

For those who don't have any safety gear, helmets, knee pads, elbow pads and wrist braces can be rented at the park for 25 cents apiece.

"When skaters apply for a membership we take their picture, get the names of their parents and all other necessary information," said Martinez. "We want to keep it a controlled atmosphere."

Martinez said that so far it had been only kids skating at the park, with the oldest rider to date about 28 years of age.

Also, the more advanced skateboarders have far outnumbered the beginners so far, according to Martinez.

This, coupled with the fact that all skaters are required to wear the protective gear, has probably been a prime factor in keeping the number of injuries at the park in the first week to a minimum.

KIDS TODAY are ignoring the Consumer Product Safety Commission's prediction of more than 375,000 injuries to skateboarders this year and dishing out the money for hours of flip kicks, gorilla jumps, end overs, nose releases and one-wheel peripheral commitments.

The local park is further evidence that skateboarding is no longer just kids in surfer shirts passing the time by jumping on their boards and roaring down the street. It is now a full-fledged sport, and it is big business.

The average skateboarder is 14 years old and owns more than $100 worth of boards and wheels, enough to ensure $400 million in sales for the skateboarding industry this year.

Just how long skateboarding will stick around in the 1970's is unclear, but it is crystal clear that while it is here it is a big money maker.

NOT FOR BEGINNERS — This run at the new Skateboard Park in Campbell is definitely not for beginners, but for the more advanced skateboard aficionados. The Skateboard Park welcomed over 3,000 skateboarders in its first week of business.

Lady Luck will smile in your direction, Ari

For April 8 through April 14

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Lady Luck turns her elusive smile in your direction, Ari. Accept good fortune discreetly. In other words, don't shout it from the house tops, as others may wish to capitalize on your gains. On final day, loosen purse strings but tighten lips.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Even if all the parts were divided equally, Taurus, they would never add up to the strength of the whole. Keep all assets together — including family and friends. Problems can be ironed out. Honestly. You'll see. Olga knows.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Treasure hunt highlighted. What you seek is hidden in unlikely locale, Gem. Explore hither — not yon. Before week is kaput, you find new glitter in some old gold.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Week ahead for study. Scholarly pursuit opens new doors, Moonbaby, even as old ones are slamming shut. As busy week draws to a hectic close, you rearrange your key chain.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Opportunity waits, as flowers wait for rain, knowing that soon you two are going to meet, Leo. Advice: Be a good scout and be prepared. Message clears.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Communication with one at a distance results in reassurance. Energy returns slowly, Virgo, so use it productively. Toward end of week you engage in game lovers play — which, by the way, can be most productive activity of all.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): After you get routine tasks taken care of, Lib, grab flee bag and head for the hills. Even a few hours away from duty will do wonders and you'll return to reality rejuvenated. Now, start packing!

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Emotionally you go from mud puddle into cool, clear stream, Scorp. Anglers await, however, so don't grab attractive bait offered. Yes, it's spring and you're hungry and Olga does understand — ahhh, but will others?

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): After a rather blah beginning, energy picks up. You hear news that make you whistle and by end of week That Old Spring Thing has you humming. All in all, a rather musical week, yes?

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Alternatives are offered concerning very personal matter. Wisdom dictates that you stall for time. Don't permit inner conflict to show. Maintain outer calm, Cap, and problem will solve itself.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Secret dream can become reality, Aquari, if you do a bit of gentle probing to sort out values. Make sure prejudice is not masked as "principle." Last day can be a lulu.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Did you follow stern advice give last week concerning money? Olga can't bear the thought of her beautiful fish drowning in a sea of debt. And in the last shuffle, time, tide and bank payments wait for no one. Not even Pisces.

Lucky Shoppers Save

Since 1967, we have invited Lucky customers to make shopping comparison tests. These customers, selected strictly at random at various Lucky Stores, have shopped from their own shopping lists. Having shopped at Lucky, they also purchased the same or comparable items (from the same shopping list) at a nearby supermarket . . . and then compared the results! With very few exceptions, these shopping tests have confirmed that Lucky shoppers save more on their food purchases. In the interests of complete fairness, we also have the results notarized.

These days, it's good to know that Lucky still committed to offering low everyday discount prices to help reduce weekly food bills . . . rather than playing games with your food dollars. Take advantage of Lucky's committment and see how you can save, too!

Balanced Savings:

It's the way we help you keep your savings working as hard as possible.

Here's how it works:
You decide how much of your savings you really want to sock away ... money you have no intention of touching for at least six years. Put this money in our 7¾% Certificate Account. Leave it alone, and it'll earn 8.06% a year for you.

That's as high as any savings and loan pays on insured savings. And it's higher than any bank pays. In fact, at our rate, you can count on doubling your money in less than nine years.

You say you may need some of your savings sooner?
We say no problem.

Simply select one of our certificate accounts with a shorter maturity date ... one that comes the closest to the time when you figure you'll need the money.

That's what our balanced savings service is all about. We help you spread your savings out to coincide with your long-term, middle-term and short-term savings goals. In short, we balance your savings so that they'll work to your best advantage.

8.06%*	7.79%*	6.98%*	6.72%*	5.39%*
6 year Certificate $1,000 minimum	4 year Certificate $1,000 minimum	2½ year Certificate $1,000 minimum	1 year Certificate $1,000 minimum	Convenience Accts. $5 minimum
7¾% Per Year	7½% Per Year	6¾% Per Year	6½% Per Year	5¼% Current rate per year

*Annual yield results when interest is compounded daily and left in account for one year. Government regulations require substantial penalties on early withdrawals from all certificates.

What about money for emergencies?
That's where our 5¼% Convenience Savings Account comes in. Keep some of your savings in one, where your money will earn interest from day in to day out (again, at more interest than banks pay). When an emergency arises, here's where to get the money you need. And you won't have to pay withdrawal penalties to get it.

Meantime, your long-term and middle-term certificate accounts are safe and secure ... and growing in value. Of course, if you ever reach the point where you need more money than you have in your Convenience Account, we'll lend it to you against your certificates. Why not? It's still your money.

We'll help you find the right balance.
That's where we're different. We want to take the time and effort to help you.

You'll not only come out money ahead with balanced savings, but you'll also qualify for most of our other financial services. Many of them are unique ... and all of them are designed to help you save money.

Let's get started now.
Come into any of our offices. Bring your passbook from any other savings institution with you. If you have certificates due to mature soon, be sure to bring them. We'll handle all the transfer details at no charge or inconvenience to you.

You'll get a warm welcome. You'll also get a valuable Travel Planner free. It's a handsome folder of leather-like vinyl that has five compartments to hold the road maps we're giving you, plus any other documents you want with you in your car. It's a convenient way to end glove compartment clutter. Please bring the coupon below with you. This offer is available to adults only on a one-per-family basis. Sorry ... no phone or mail requests can be accepted.

Dons trip Westmont

Melrose paces Campbell to win over Del Mar

SOPHOMORE Jeff Melrose earned a spot on the Campbell varsity with his play in the recent Soquel baseball tournament. But he won a spot in Gordon Huntze's heart last week with his performance against the Del Mar Dons.

Playing like a seasoned veteran, Melrose lashed a clutch two run single and later came up with the defensive play of the game to lift the Campbell Buccaneers to a hard earned 3-2 win last Tuesday in West Valley Athletic League play.

"Melrose played a helluva game," praised opposing coach Gary Cunningham.

It was Melrose's two out, two run single that capped a three run second inning rally and wound up being the game-winning hit.

And it was Melrose's dazzling glove work at first base in the sixth inning, snaring a poorly thrown ball to complete an inning ending double play, that killed a budding comeback bid by the Dons.

The Buccaneer first sacker had ended a first inning threat by the Dons when he made a leaping catch of a line drive off the bat of catcher Jim Dorr with two runners on.

IN ADDITION to Melrose, the Bucs received a stellar relief performance from Joe Jones, who came on for a struggling Mark Sullivan to no-hit the Dons over the final two innings.

"You have to give credit to Jones," said Cunningham. "He came in with no outs and the bases loaded and did a job."

"He did a fine job," added Huntze. "He and Melrose were the two big players for us."

The Bucs, who were coming off of a 10-8 loss to Prospect, scored all of their runs in the second inning after two were out. Mark Ortiz reached first on an error and romped to third on a bloop single to right by Don Hart.

Dave Erkman followed with a double to score Ortiz and then Melrose lashed his clutch two run single to center.

Del Mar hurler Tom Bell, who had allowed a first inning single to Brian Raust, then settled down to no-hit the Bucs the rest of the way.

"Their pitcher did a good job on us after the second," said Huntze.

Bell wound up with a four-hitter, walking just one and striking out nine.

Sullivan was sailing along with a four-hit shut-out heading into the sixth. But the Buc ace proceeded to walk the first four batters he faced — Bob Cirivilleri, Kevin Cesar, Jeff Blobaum and Craig Bates — in the sixth and gave way to Jones.

JONES CAME on to complete a walk to Craig Richesin (he inherited a 2-0 count from Sullivan), forcing in Cesar with the second run of the inning.

But then the Buccaneer reliever got the next batter on a pop-up and ended the inning with a double play ball, thanks to Melrose's great play at first.

"It was kind of a must win for both of us," Huntze said after the game, knowing whoever lost would take an 0-2 record into their next game. "If we had lost the complexion of the season would have changed a great deal."

The Bucs, who were rained out last Thursday in their game against Los Gatos, were upset by Prospect in their season opener.

The Panthers, trailing 6-0 at one point, rallied for four runs in the seventh and four more in the eighth to pull out a 10-8 win.

"We were up 6-2 in the seventh and we should have nailed it down," said Huntze. "Our guys just didn't have that killer instinct.

Jim Diaz started the Panthers' winning rally in the eighth with an infield single. Phil Rebboah followed with a single and moved to second on the throw to third.

George Thum delivered a single to score both runners and pinch-hitter John Akeman lashed a base hit. A balk moved both runners into scoring position.

TIM FLEURY was issued an intentional walk to load the bases. Len Lobaito then drilled a sacrifice fly to center and Mitch Morris capped the rally with a run scoring single.

Campbell made a valiant comeback try in the bottom of the eighth as both Mike Updegraff and Hart smacked solo homers.

With two out, Joe Cucchiara and Melrose kept things alive with singles. An errant pick-off attempt moved both runners into scoring position before reliever Mike Cetinich fanned Dan Trinidad to end the game and preserve the win.

Cetinich hurled five and a third innings in relief of Thum and picked up the win. Dave Favre, one of four Campbell pitchers, was saddled with the loss.

Campbell had built its early 6-0 lead on the strength of run scoring singles by Scott Pence, Trinidad, Raust and Cliff Judd.

But Prospect scored twice in the fifth on a two run single by Fleury.

In the seventh, Cetinich highlighted a game tying four run rally for Prospect with a dramatic three run homer. Morris drove in the fourth run of the inning with a double, scoring Fleury from first.

Campbell LL sets '78 season opener

THE CAMPBELL Little League has slated Saturday, April 15, for its opening day ceremonies for the 1978 baseball season.

Fleury, a sophomore, was three for four in the win while Morris, Rebboah and Monte Morehead all had two hits.

TRINIDAD, Updegraff, Pence and Ortiz all lashed two hits for Campbell.

Del Mar, meanwhile, had opened the WVAL season with a 6-3 loss to Los Gatos, committing seven errors and stranding 11 runners in the game.

Five Don errors in the first two innings had given Los Gatos a 3-0 lead. But Del Mar came back to tie the game with a run in the third and two in the fourth. Craig Bates' two run single to left tied the game.

But in the fifth the Dons blew a bases loaded, no outs situation and Los Gatos came right back with a three run rally.

Blobaum absorbed the loss despite allowing just two earned runs in his six inning stint. The Don ace fanned five.

Dorr was three for four in the loss for Del Mar.

Cunningham's club got into the win column last Thursday by toppling Westmont 5-2 behind the pitching of junior Larry Ragusa and the hitting of Dorr.

Ragusa, making his first varsity start, went five and two-thirds innings, scattering seven hits and striking out five before giving way to Blobaum in the sixth. Ragusa was credited with the win and Blobaum got the save.

DORR'S TWO run double, one of two doubles he had in the game, sparked a five run third inning explosion by the Dons. Blobaum added a bases loaded walk in the inning and an error allowed two more runs to score.

Don Iwanga drove in both of Westmont's runs with a bases loaded single, scoring Rich Morin and Scott Ruiz, who had both singled.

Westmont had split its first two games of the week, losing to Camden 5-3 and routing Prospect 19-2.

"One misplayed ball allowed three runs to come in and that was the ballgame," Warrior head coach Don Stagnaro said of the loss to Camden. "I felt we should have won all three games last week."

Ruiz absorbed the loss to Camden, striking out six in the process.

Bob Bossi led the Warriors at the plate with two hits in three at bats.

A grand slam home run by Morin and a three run blast by Mike Adams paved the way to Westmont's frolic over the Panthers.

Morin was three for five in the game with five runs-batted-in while Adams was two for three with four RBI's.

Ruiz chipped in with a single, double, triple and three RBI's and both Iwanga and Bossi had two hits.

Tim Mooney went the distance for the win, scattering nine hits and striking out six.

Campbell pair aid Aquamaids

THE SANTA Clara Aquamaids earned the right to represent the United States at the upcoming World Aquatic Games III in Berlin this August by winning all three events at the recent Indoor Synchronized swimming championships in Commerse, California.

Campbell's Anne Motekaitis was on the Aquamaid's "B" team, which placed eighth out of 26 teams, while Angie' Alkire, also from Campbell, was on Santa Clara's 12th place "C" team.

The Aquamaids finished first in the competition with a total of 131.998 points to nip California Coralettes, who had 131.792 points. The Walnut Creek Aquanuts were third and the Hamden Heronettes were fourth.

Santa Clara's Pam Tryon won the individual title with 132.920 points while teammates Michele Beaulieu, Michele Barone and Linda Shelley finished second, third and fourth, respectively. SC's Gerri Brandly came in sixth.

In duet competition, Tryon and Barone combined for the championship while Beaulieu and Brandly came in third. Erin Barr and Shelley teamed for fourth place.

Palomino, Thorobred sign-ups scheduled

SIGN-UPS for the Campbell-Moreland Palomino and Thorobred Leagues will take place Saturday (April 8) at the Morgan Park Pony League clubhouse from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Campbell will enter one Palomino team (ages 17-18) and one Thorobred team (19-21) in separate West Valley Leagues. Since each team will field only 14 or 15 players, it will be necessary to conduct try-outs in late April or early May.

Although the Thorobred program has been in operation for several years, this is the debut year for the Palominos. All interested in playing must register April 8 and submit a $26 registration fee. If a boy does not make either team, his money will be refunded.

For more information, contact Palomino manager Felix Mancinez, 374-5920, or Thorobred manager Ray Knight, 263-5855. Both teams will launch league play in late May.

HUDDLED AROUND — Players for the St. Lucy's basketball team huddle around head coach George Reilly during a regular season game. Included among those listening are Patty Boothe, (26), Patty Tuttle (12), Loretta Brown (19) and Regina Reilly (10).

St. Lucy's girls 'thump' foes for A and B titles

WHOEVER SAID that little girls were made of "sugar and spice and everything nice" obviously never ran into the group of eighth graders who played basketball this winter for the St. Lucy's A girl's team.

Because if that person had run into those Trojans, that phrase would have had to come out, little girls are "runners and jumpers and Valley Youth League thumpers!"

The eighth grade girls at St. Lucy's "thumped" everyone in the VYL on their way to the league championship this past season.

The Trojans wrapped up the year with a 23-30 win over St. Justin's in the title game to finish the league season with a perfect record and ended up overall with a fine 13-2 mark.

Patty Tuttle paced the Trojans in the scoring department this season with 110 points and Regina Reilly, the team captain, was an all-tournament pick in the St. Christopher's tournament earlier in the year. St. Lucy's finished second in that tournament.

The St. Lucy's girl's B team also finished the year with a perfect record, knocking off St. Andrews 27-9 in the last game of the year to cap a 7-0 championship season.

Team co-captain Colleen Reilly led the seventh graders with 67 points on the year and Jane Morgan added 60 points.

The St. Lucy's boy's C team won the regular season VYL title but lost to Our Lady of the Rosary 27-24 in the play-offs without two of its starters. Peter Christian bombed 14 points for the Campbell bunch in the loss.

Five of the six St. Lucy's teams made the VYL play-offs but only the girl's A and B teams and the boy's C team reached the finals at the Bellarmine gym on March 19.

Shilling competes in NCAA meet

KEN SHILLING, a former swimming star for Del Mar high school, competed in the NCAA swimming championships recently at Cal State Long Beach.

Shilling, swimming for Stanford, competed in the 200 individual medley and the 200 breaststroke events. He had a season best of 1:53.71 in the IM and 2:05.22 in the breast heading into the meet.
